Story 027

A group of young children were sitting in a circle with their teacher, who was going around in turn, asking them questions.

First, she asked, “Mary, what noise does a cow make?” Mary responded, “It goes, moo.”

Then, she asked, “Ted, what noise does a cat make?” Ted replied, “It goes, meow.”

Finally, she questioned one last child, “Bill, what sound does a mouse make?” Bill replied, “It goes, click!”

Story 028

A doctor was performing a visual acuity test. She placed the patient six meters from the chart and began the test. “Cover your right eye with your hand,” she said. The patient read the 2.0/2.0 line perfectly.

So the doctor said, “Now your left.” Again, the patient read flawlessly.

Then the doctor said, “Now both.”

There was silence; the patient couldn’t even read the large A on the top line. Puzzled, the doctor turned and discovered that he had done exactly what she had asked; he was standing there with both his eyes covered.
